

REPRESENTED TALENT

Matt Condon

Prize-winning author, investigative journalist, podcaster and speaker

AUSTRALIA | AVAILABLE BY ARRANGEMENT

PROFILE

Matthew Condon is a prize-winning Australian novelist, investigative journalist and podcaster. His career spans leading Australian newspapers, more than ten acclaimed books, major investigations into Queensland crime and police corruption, and long-form audio storytelling.

EXPERTISE

True crime and investigations

Queensland history

Long-form storytelling

Writing craft

Live interviewing

BOOKINGS & ENQUIRIES

two-unknownns.vercel.app/talent/matt-condon

Ways to work together

Keynotes and talks

Literary festivals, conferences, universities and private events.

Panels and moderated conversations

Crime, journalism, books, storytelling and public-interest investigations.

Hosting and interviewing

On-stage or recorded conversations with authors, journalists and public figures.

Workshops

Narrative non-fiction, research, interview technique and turning evidence into story.

Selected highlights

- Author of The Trout Opera and the bestselling Queensland crime-and-corruption series.
- Host of Ghost Gate Road and ABC's Dig: Sirens Are Coming.
- Back-to-back Steele Rudd Awards; Australian Book Industry Award recognition.
- Medal of the Order of Australia for service to the community.

“One of the finest writers of his generation.”

THE MONTHLY, VIA GHOST GATE ROAD

PUBLIC SOURCES

penguin.com.au/authors/matthew-condon

uqp.com.au/authors/mathew-condon

ghostgateroad.com/matthew-condon

abc.net.au/listen/programs/dig/sirens-are-coming/13905898